Dear Licensee:

This refers to your license renewal application for station KVMY(TV), Las Vegas, NV.

In the Children's Television Act of 1990, Pub. L. No. 101-437, 104 Stat. 996-1000, codified at 47 U.S.C. Sections 303a, 303b and 394, Congress directed the Commission to adopt rules, inter alia, limiting the number of minutes of commercial matter that television stations may air during children's programming, and to consider in its review of television license renewals the extent to which the licensee has complied with such commercial limits. Pursuant to this statutory mandate, the Commission adopted Section 73.670 of the Rules, 47 C.F.R. § 73.670, which limits the amount of commercial matter which may be aired during children's programming to 10.5 minutes per hour on weekends and 12 minutes per hour on weekdays. The Commission also reaffirmed and clarified its long-standing policy against "program-length commercials." The Commission defined a "program-length commercial" as "a program associated with a product, in which commercials for that product are aired," and stated that the entire duration of any program-length commercial would be counted as commercial matter for the purpose of the children's television commercial limits.² The commercial limitations became effective on January 1, 1992.³

¹ On June 19, 2006, the Station's Call Sign was changed from KVWB(TV) to KVMY(TV).

³ Children's Television Programming, 6 FCC Rcd 5529, 5530 (1991).

On May 31, 2006, you filed the above-referenced license renewal application for station KVMY(TV). In response to Section IV, Question 5 of that application, you certify that, during the previous license term, KVMY(TV) failed to comply with the limitations on commercial matter in children's programming specified in Section 73.670 of the Commission's Rules. In Exhibit 19, you indicate that station KVMY(TV) violated the children's television commercial limits and policies on September 24, 2002 and November 18, 1999. First, you state that one conventional overage occurred on November 18, 1999 and was 15 seconds in duration.

Second, you report that on September 24, 2002 station KVMY(TV) aired a commercial for the Gameboy Advance E-Reader aired during the "Pokemon" program. According to your description, three "Pokemon" game cards were shown for approximately 1.04 seconds. You also indicate that the "Pokemon" game cards were partially hidden and only the letters "MON" were identifiable. You state that the "Pokemon" characters on the cards were not identifiable and were not verbally identified during the commercial. You maintain that the appearance of these cards could not have confused the viewer and that you do not believe that this occurrence violates the children's programming commercial limits rules.

As a preliminary matter, we note that Congress was particularly concerned about program-length commercials because young children often have difficulty distinguishing between commercials and programs.⁴ Thus, in Children's Television Programming, the Commission made it clear that program-length commercials, by their very nature, are extremely serious violations of the children's television commercial limits, stating that the program-length commercial policy "directly addresses a fundamental regulatory concern, that children who have difficulty enough distinguishing program content from unrelated commercial matter, not be all the more confused by a show that interweaves program content and commercial matter."⁵ Accordingly, in interpreting and applying the Commission's policies regarding program-length commercials, we are concerned about and dealing with the cognitive abilities of young children, not adults.⁶

With respect to the station's broadcast of the commercial for the Gameboy Advance E-Reader, although you contend that the "Pokemon" game cards appeared for approximately 1.04 seconds during the commercial, it is well-established that the determination as to whether a particular program is a program-length commercial is not dependent on the duration of the appearance of the program-related product in the commercial announcement. The Commission has stated on numerous occasions that, where a commercial announcement includes a product related to the program in which the commercial is broadcast, then the program is a program-length commercial regardless of the duration of the appearance of the program-related product in the commercial.⁷

Moreover, we believe that, in the context of the cognitive abilities of young children, there is the potential for confusion between the Gameboy commercial and the “Pokemon” program regardless whether any “Pokemon” character is identifiable given the image of a “Pokemon” game card contained in the commercial and the consequent likelihood that children may associate it with the program.

While we consider any violation of our rules limiting the amount of commercial matter in children’s programming to be significant, the violations described in your renewal application appears to have been an isolated occurrences. Although we do not rule out more severe sanctions for violations of this nature in the future, we have determined that an admonition is appropriate at this time. Therefore, based upon the facts and circumstances before us, we ADMONISH you for the violations of the children’s television commercial limits rule and policies described in station KVMY(TV)’s renewal application. We remind you that the Commission expects all commercial television licensees to comply with the limits on commercial matter in children’s programming.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED that, a copy of this Letter shall be sent by First Class and Certified Mail, Return Receipt Requested to the licensee at the address listed above, and to its counsel, Kathryn R. Schmeltzer, Esquire, Pillsbury Winthrop Shaw Pittman LLP, 2300 N Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20037-1128.
